

My B.I.L.S Testimonial:

My very first day at the Bangalore Institute of Legal Studies started off with much exercise and aplomb. Little did I put in perspective that climbing the never ending flight of stairs to enter the classrooms would be a sign of things to come, as at the end of it all and after five years of doing so, I would find myself in the exact same position once again, the only difference being that this time round, I was equipped with the intellectual arsenal to kick start my career in Law.

B.I.L.S in my opinion is the cornerstone for fantastic teaching faculty. From the practically skilled to the theoretically astute, it harbours the best mix of mind moulders. The members of the teaching faculty always nudge its pupils into developing the right line of analytical thinking with incisive inputs. A special mention has to be made about the ever accommodative library staff as well as the wonderful front office staff. Furthermore, the students are infinitely encouraged to engage in internship programmes, practical training and Moot Court Competitions. The faculty had a major role to play in helping me secure internship programmes at both corporate entities and prestigious law firms like Infosys, King and Partridge, Holla and Holla and Dua Associates to name a few.

I realised and appreciated the significance of proper undergraduate law schooling when I felt completely at ease while I pursued the Master of Laws programme at the University of Manchester- UK. Now, as Assistant Manager- Legal and Compliance for the NMC Group-UAE, and a member of the ever growing B.I.L.S Alma Mater, I feel proud and feel that it is my duty to give back to the institution that has given me so much.

Thank you.
