A Background Note

In the world of environment there are two contradictory demands viz. The protection and preservation of the environment for the present as well as the future generation and the continuing process of economic development.

From the very beginning the controversy between Environment and development was there. In order to synthesize the controversial imperatives that affect the economy, the term 'Sustainable development' has emerged as an important concern for mankind, following intensified damage to environment and socio-cultural integrity that has accompanied with accelerated economic development in many regions of the world in post-World War II era.
